ROBINSON NOT A DELEGATE

DOWNEY AND BRIDGEMAN NAMED BY DEMOCRATS.

DEFEATED IN CAUCUS

Maryville Man Fails to Get Expected St. Joseph Support.—L. C. Cook on a Committee.

J. B. Robinson, Nodaway county's candidate for district delegate to the Democratic national convention at Houston, Tex., failed of election to the post at the district caucus which preceded the Democratic state convention at St. Joseph today.

The delegates named were John J. Downey, St. Joseph, and R. E. Bridgeman, Holt county.

The result of the caucus was a severe disappointment to the Nodaway county delegation which supported Mr. Robinson, and it caused some resentment, directed chiefly against the leaders of the Buchanan county delegation, who had indicated several days ago that they would support the Maryville banker, but who cast their big block of votes as a unit for Bridgeman.

The caucus was held in the city council chamber at St. Joseph this morning, with R. M. Duncan, St. Joseph, as chairman, and L. C. Cook, Maryville, as secretary.

Downey, Bridgeman and Robinson were the only candidates placed in nomination for district delegate. Mr. Robinson was nominated by L. C. Cook.

The Vote by Counties.

By counties the vote was:

Atchison: Downey 9, Robinson 9.

Andrew: Downey 9, Bridgeman 9.

Buchanan: Downey 55, Bridgeman 55.

Nodaway: Downey 18, Robinson 18.

Holt: Downey 7, Bridgeman 6½.

Platte: Downey 4, Bridgeman 3½, Robinson 3½.

The totals: Robinson 30½; Downey 102; Bridgeman 74.

The Nodaway county Democrats had been virtually promised that Robinson would be supported by Buchanan county, and if that county had given him even half its votes he would have been elected.

Defending their action, St. Joseph leaders pointed out that George Robb Ellison of Maryville, now supreme court commissioner, was a delegate to the last national convention and that hurt Robinson's chances, inasmuch as the party leaders like to pass around the honor.

The St. Joseph News-Press yesterday declared that "were it not for the fact that Nodaway county had the delegate to the last convention, Robinson likely would be selected at this time."

Cook on Committee.

As alternates to the district delegates, the caucus selected Mrs. W. B. Wood, Rosendale, and Mrs. F. W. Holkenbrink, St. Joseph.

Judge L. D. Ramsey of Atchison county was elected presidential elector. The aged Rock Port lawyer received 82 votes to 20 for Dr. J. C. Hoshor of Andrew county.

For the committees of the state convention, these selections were made:

Resolutions: L. C. Cook, Maryville.

Credentials: Mrs. Robertson, Andrew county.

Permanent organization: Clarence Riley, Platte county.

Rules and order of business: Mrs. W. F. Marshall, Tarkio.

Mayors of County Invited to Meeting

Meet This Afternoon to Consider Employment of Social Worker for Nodaway County.

Every mayor in Nodaway County was invited to attend the meeting held in Maryville this afternoon to consider whether a social worker should be employed for county-wide service. In addition sentiments were voiced by a Red Cross committee, the County Court, Welfare Board, and City Council.

The following out-of-town mayors were invited:

Dr. K. N. Harkar, Ravenwood; Charles Evans, Parnell; John Walsh, Conception Junction; W. F. Davis, Guilford; Ray Davis, Barnard; C. A. Hatfield, Graham; Mark Loucks, Skidmore; Carl Johnston, Quitman; T. E. Fordyce, Burlington Junction; Amos Castillo, Elmo; Al Stokes, Clearmont; Oscar Mutti, Hopkins; Jim Neal, Pickering; Dwight Swinford, Arkoe.

David Kuntzman Is New M. W. A. Head

Skidmore Man Elected at County Meeting Last Night at Ravenwood—Ray Strickler, Secretary.

David Kuntzman, Skidmore, was elected president of the County Association of the Modern Woodmen of America at its February meeting, held last night at the I. O. O. F. hall in Ravenwood. Ray Strickler, also a Skidmore man, was elected secretary and treasurer of the County M. W. A. The next meeting will be held at Skidmore, March 26.

About seventy men attended the meeting. They were from Maryville, Parnell, Barnard, Hopkins, Guilford, Grant City, and a degree team from Bedford, Ia. Fourteen Maryville members attended the M. W. A.

Nine candidates were taken into the County Association, most of whom were Ravenwood men.

The retiring officers of the M. W. A. are: Arthur Gates, president, and F. W. Burns, secretary and treasurer, both of Ravenwood.

TOMORROW IS THE BIG DAY

SEVERAL CELEBRATE FIRST BIRTHDAY IN FOUR YEARS.

OLDEST BORN IN 1848

Mrs. Raines' Mother Celebrates Eightieth Year; Beulah Mae Callahan to Have First Anniversary.

Nodaway and near-by counties have a large number of residents who enjoy birthdays only once every four years, and as tomorrow is the great day, a list of those who will celebrate has been compiled, along with the year in which each was born:

Mrs. T. J. Emmert, Tarkio, mother of Mrs. H. L. Raines of Maryville, will celebrate her eightieth birthday tomorrow. She will be eighty years old. She was born February 29, 1848, at Polo, Ill.

Two things have happened in Mrs. Emmert's lifetime which happens only once in a hundred years. There was no leap year from 1896 to 1904—a period of eight years and several years ago there were five Sundays in February. A family dinner will be held for Mrs. Emmert at her home in Tarkio tomorrow. Among those who will attend are Mr. and Mrs. Raines and daughter, Joan, Mr. and Mrs. L. Z. Emmert, Kansas City; Sam Emmert, Tarkio and Miss Olga Emmert, Tarkio.

Campbell Thompson, Arkoe, was born in Lee County, Virginia, February 29, 1852. He was married in 1874 to Cynthia Gilbert at Jonesville, Va. They moved to Missouri in wagons in 1884. They were on the way one month and one day.

Mr. Thompson is the father of nine children: Harve and D. E. Thompson, Middlesboro, Ky.; Mrs. C. H. Rice, Mrs. Fred Wyatt, Howard Thompson and James Thompson, Maryville; Dollie Thompson, Mary Thompson and Mrs. Dona Meek live at home. A grandson, Gerald Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson, lives with Mr. Campbell Thompson.

Upon coming here Mr. Thompson settled on the Boatwright farm five miles south of Maryville, one mile from the Scudder school. The family lived on the farm until eight years ago when they moved to Arkoe. He has lived in the county about 45 years.

Hamilton Montgomery Ellsworth, 72 years old, lives at 124 West Fifth street, Maryville. He was born in 1856 and will celebrate his seventeenth birthday tomorrow. He was born on the edge of Black Swamp, Wood county, Ohio. The family moved to Iowa and then in 1859 to Missouri where his grandparents settled on a farm three miles south of Maryville. The farm was then known as the Jenkins farm.

Mr. Jenkins lived with his grandparents until the spring of 1872 when he drove a team overland to Colorado with F. M. Cooper and Ed Royston. He returned to Missouri in 1873. In 1874 he was married to Mandy Milligan and lived on the farm until 1881 when he returned to Colorado and also went to Arizona and New Mexico. He returned to Missouri and to the farm. In 1890 the first Mrs. Ellsworth died.

Mr. Ellsworth left for Beaver City, Neb., and worked on railroad con-

2:30 p. m. "Management of Dairy Herd on Pasture," A. F. Stephens.

Evening Program.

Concert by the College orchestra, accompanied by Miss Helen Dvorak, violin soloist.

Early hatching and fresh range were the dominating thoughts stressed by Berley Winton, specialist of the Extension Division, Missouri College of Agriculture, to 141 persons who attended the opening sesssion of Farmers Week at the auditorium of the State Teachers College this morning.

Mr. Winton was followed by Dr. A. J. Durant of the Missouri College of Agriculture, who spoke on the "Control of White Diarrhoea and Coccidiosis."

Nearly half of the audience was composed of women and they were as frequent questioners as were the men.

The afternoon session was to be devoted to a discussion on "Feeding and Graining of Chicks," by Mr. Winton, while Dr. Durant was to discuss "Natural Parasites and Their Control."

Roy A. Kinnaird, head of the agricultural department of the State Teachers College and at present acting president, made a few introductory remarks and introduced the speakers.

Urges Early Hatching.

Mr. Winton emphasized the importance of early hatching for the reason that 20 per cent of the pullets must be in production by August to insure 50 per cent production by November 1. Chicks which get a good start do not become so affected with parasites, Mr. Winton also explained.

Mr. Winton then turned to a discussion of incubation. In years past it was believed that incubator chicks were not as strong as the others. He stated this belief has been dispelled and points out that incubation is the only method to be depended upon to hatch early chicks. However, for those who depend on the hens for hatching, the "broodiness" which is sometimes manifest can gradually be eliminated by proper breeding to hens which do not have this characteristic of broodiness, he said.

The proper methods for the operation of the incubator were explained by Mr. Winton. He said it is impossible to get good, strong healthy chicks by incubation if the incubator is not maintained at an even temperature. Moisture should be added to the incubator if it is operated in a very dry room. But the most important factor is the temperature. Most chicks are killed in incubation by too high temperatures, he said.

To Make Settlement With Tax Collectors

County Court Sets March 5, 6 and 7 as Dates for Township Officers to Submit Books.

A call for township collectors to make final settlement with the county court was issued today by Fred Wright, clerk. The collectors of Atchison, Grant, Hopkins and Hughes, will settle March 5; Independence, Jackson, Jefferson, Lincoln and Monroe will settle March 6; and Nodaway, Polk, Union, Washington and White Cloud will settle March 7.

The collectors must turn over their 1928 tax books on these dates, Mr. Wright said.

Mr. Wright also said that the county treasurer will make settlement for all railroad, merchants and back taxes with the county court when it meets on these days.

FIGHT ON 71 TO BE HEARD NEXT MONDAY

Motion to Dismiss Injunction Against Awarding Contract in Andrew County Set for Argument.

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 28.—The fight over the location of Highway No. 71 in Andrew county is scheduled to come up in circuit court here next Monday when Judge Westhues will hear a motion by the State Highway Commission to dismiss injunction proceedings filed here several weeks ago.

A number of farmers in Andrew county filed injunction proceedings to restrain the highway commission from awarding contracts for the construction of this highway in Andrew and Nodaway counties over a proposed route.

The commission replied by filing a motion asking dismissal of the injunction proceedings and this motion will be heard Monday. If the motion is denied then the case must be argued in court, according to Edgar Shock, chief counsel for the highway department.

CARL WRAY IS ELECTED HEAD

GUILFORD BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION HOLDS MEETING.

TO ORGANIZE WOMEN

O. C. Bradley Is Vice President and Arthur Thompson is Secretary-Treasurer of Group.

Carl Wray was elected president of the Guilford Business Men's Association at a meeting of the organization held last night. Arthur Thompson was elected secretary-treasurer and O. C. Bradley was elected vice-president. The officers were elected for one year.

A women's auxiliary to the organization will be organized, it was announced.

The annual banquet of the association will be held soon.

The president, vice president and secretary-treasurer form an executive committee, which appoints three other committees. Arthur Thompson and W. T. Ross have been named as the music committee. The highway and program committees will be appointed later.

Otto H. Spicer, lumber dealer, was president of the association last year and Dr. A. D. Barnet was the secretary.

The organization has been in existence for the past five years. It sponsors the Guilford band, which gives Saturday night concerts, looks after highways and other matters affecting the interests of the community.

Prospects for the band for the coming year are especially bright since the Guilford board of education has included orchestra practice in the high school curriculum. New talent has been developed under the direction of Instructor McCampbell.

Cut by Hedgethorn Results in Death

John Cummins, King City, Dies in Hospital Here.—Funeral at Ford City.

John Cummins, 65 years old, King City, died of blood poisoning at the St. Francis hospital at 11:30 o'clock this morning. His hand had been cut by a hedgethorn and infection followed. He had been in the hospital here since Thursday.

Mr. Cummins was born in Ohio, but had spent most of his life in Gentry county. He made his home with a son, John Cummins, at King City. Other children are: Mrs. T. A. Graham, Ravenwood; Christopher Cummins, St. Joseph; Leo Cummins, Odell, Tex.

Mr. Cummins was a brother of Dr. K. C. Cummins, J. B. Cumins, T. A. Cummins, Maryville, Father F. P. Cummins, Brookfield, Mrs. N. Y. Jameson, Stanberry, and Mrs. T. W. Costello, Eldorado Springs, Mo.

The funeral will be held at the old Cummins home, Ford City. The time has not been announced.

Hickman-Hunt Case to Reach Jury Today

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 28.—The fate of William Edward Hickman and Welby Hunt, on trial jointly for the murder of Ivy Toms, Los Angeles druggist, may reach the jury today.

Cross-examination of Hunt by the state and closing arguments by both state and defense were to be completed today.

DIRIGIBLE ON WAY TO CUBA

THE LOS ANGELES OFF AGAIN AFTER CANAL ZONE FLIGHT.

NO TRACE OF PLANE

Navy Makes Intensive Search for Three Missing Officers Who Flew to Sick Child.

Balboa, C. Z., Feb. 28.—The United States dirigible Los Angeles headed out from Colon over the Caribbean Sea at 12:16 p. m., today to fly to Guanacayabo naval base, Cuba, to join the tender, Patoka.

The Los Angeles ascended from France Field at 10:30 and warmed up for her oversea flight by circling Panama City and the canal area.

The dirigible, after its adventurous 2,250 mile flight from the United States, was refueled last night with 3,600 gallons of gasoline. The flight to Cuba is estimated at twenty-four hours.

Landing Majestic Sight.

The landing here last night, after more than thirty-nine hours in the air, was a majestic sight.

The silvery craft, was first sighted over the Canal Zone at 9:15 p. m. The dull drone of its motors first attracted the thousands waiting in the streets and at the landing field.

A few minutes later the flicker of the cabin lights of the Los Angeles could be seen and then the great lighter-than-air vessel could be seen floating serenely through a sky lighted by a tropical half-moon.

Lights from vessels reflected against its sides while flood lights from the field soon picked it up.

Landing was made easily and the cabin soon was settling down a scant ten feet from the ground. Ladders were dropped and Commander Rosendahl, with six other officers, descended to receive official greetings from 4,000 persons at the flying field at 11:05 p. m.

Hailed as Important Feat.

Washington, Feb. 28. — Completion last night of the navy dirigible Los Angeles' non-stop flight from Lakehurst, N. J., to France Field, Panama, was hailed here today as a significant achievement.

Assistant Secretary of Navy Warner, in charge of aeronautics, radioed congratulations to Commander C. E. Rosendahl, commander of the huge silver-nosed craft. His message said:

"My heartiest congratulations to yourself and officers and crew. Your flight, carried out in strict accordance with pre-arranged plans is splendid evidence of commercial and naval usefulness of airships and desirability of energetic development here.

"Your arrival is the most important event in the history of the Canal Zone since the first ship went through."

While no special military significance is attached to the long flight by the navy department, Warner pointed out that it will bring the Canal Zone within forty hours of New York City. He added that a large area west of the Canal Zone, where shipping is light, could be patrolled by a dirigible in war time, to guard against approach of an enemy vessel, if there was an air base in the Canal Zone.

Child Ill, Father Lost.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Twelve-year-old Mildred Ellyson tossed critically ill on her bed in an Annapolis, Md., hospital today, unaware that her father and two other naval officers had become lost while flying to her bedside and that government aircraft were looking for them.

Before daybreak yesterday Commander T. O. Ellyson, executive officer of the airplane carrier, Lexington, received word at Hampton Roads, Va., that Mildred was seriously ill. He ordered out an amphibian plane and started up the Chesapeake.

Two others from the ship decided to go with him. They were Lieutenant-Commander Hugo Schmidt and Lieutenant Roger Ransehousen.

The three departed in the darkness on what they expected would be a two-

Kansas City, Kan., Feb. 28.—Dr. S. O. Netherton of Olathe, Kan., was charged with first degree murder in an information filed by Howard E. Payne, prosecutor, today.

Netherton was charged in the information with shooting his wife while she was working in the basement of their home last Friday.

Must Act to Stop Industrial Warfare

Senate Sub-Committee to Report Conditions of Pennsylvania Coal Fields This Week.

Washington, Feb. 28.—The Senate sub-committee which made a five-day survey of the bituminous coal fields of Pennsylvania believes some regulation of the industry must be devised at once to prevent the industrial warfare there from spreading over the entire country.

The investigators returned to Washington today, unanimous in this opinion and announced they would submit a verbal report of their fidings to the Senate interstate commerce committee on Thursday or Friday in executive session.

SEEK POSITIVE DECLARATIONS

CHAIRMAN PICKET SOUNDS KEYNOTE OF 'DRY' CONFERENCE.

DEFEAT SILENT ONES

"No Time to Give Reins to a Wet," Is Cry in Veiled Attack on Smith.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Chairman Deets Pickett of the "Dry Plank Conference," which opened here today, sounded the keynote of the gathering by declaring the friends of prohibition "demand positive declarations" on the dry issue in party platforms.

Addressing the more than 400 representatives of thirty-two national temperance organizations, Pickett declared the drys "will strive to defeat office seekers who are either negative or silent."

"We call upon the American people to repudiate all state and national party platforms that deal only in glittering generalities with law enforcement. We will oppose and vote against candidates in all parties whose promise is fair and dry but whose official performance is wet."

Smith Attack Veiled.

Dr. Clarence True Wilson of the Methodist temperance board launched what was regarded as a veiled attack against the candidacy of Al Smith without mentioning Smith by name, because, as he said, "to attack this man or any candidate openly might lead to greater support from the opposition."

"However," Dr. Wilson declared, "This is no time for the United States to give the reins of government to a wet, damp or dodging candidate. A president by his individual acts, by the selection of his cabinet and by the conduct of his office could scuttle prohibition in four years.

"Let us insist that all parties put clear-cut dry planks in their platforms so that a wet candidate cannot stand on them, let alone run on them. No man who dodges the issue now is going to straighten out when he gets in office."

Charge Utility Domination.

The Rev. O. R. Miller, Albany, president of the National Civic League, declared Smith would not be a presidential candidate had the Walsh power investigation resolution passed.

Smith is hand-in-foot with the public utility interests of the country, Miller declared.

"He let the barge canal fill up in one year and his man Greene began a campaign to abandon it," Miller said.

"Had he succeeded it would have been a great benefit to the New York Central Railroad, and the power trust would have obtained 750,000 kilowatt horsepower for nothing."

"Smith's constant companion when traveling is a representative of the great public utility combination. Even the short trips from New York City to Albany are frequently taken in this magnate's private car."

Detroit-Chicago Bus Would Use Highway

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 28.—Walter A. Nisun, president of the Detroit-Chicago Bus Company, made personal application today for a certificate of convenience and necessity to operate an interstate bus line over Highway No. 40.

The company recently was denied permission to do business in Missouri and has filed an appeal with the Cole county Circuit Court.

The application today was merely for permission to use the highway, doing no business in the state. No decision had been reached.

HARMONY AT CONVENTION

GARDNER LAUDS REED IN KEYNOTE SPEECH.

6,000 JAM AUDITORIUM

"Slate" Delegates to National Convention Expected to Be Elected With Little Opposition.

St. Joseph, Mo., Feb. 28.—The Democratic state convention, which is expected to take action favoring a delegation to the national Democratic convention at Houston instructed for Senator James A. Reed, got under way shortly after noon today with Samuel W. Fordyce of St. Louis, state chairman, presiding.

Frederick D. Gardner, former governor, presided as temporary chairman and delivered the keynote address, stressing the records of Senator Reed and outlining the reasons why the Missouri Senator should be nominated for President.

Several committees were appointed and the convention adjourned until 4 o'clock. The committee on resolutions and platform went into session to write the platform which is expected to advance the candidacy of Senator Reed for the presidential nomination.

Hunter Permanent Chairman.

After the keynote speech, Gardner handed the gavel over to Stephen B. Hunter of Cape Girardeau, permanent chairman of the meeting. Several committees were appointed before adjournment was taken.

It was generally believed the resolutions and platform committee will reach an agreement on all features of the platform without much discussion. It appeared just as probable that the convention as a whole will accept the committee draft with a minimum amount of debate.

The convention had the outward appearance of a very orderly meeting with no great amount of friction in sight for the delegates. They were practically unanimous as regards sending an instructed delegation to the national convention for Reed and the only possibility of trouble loomed over selection of the big eight to the Houston convention.

The word had gone out, however that Senator Reed favored the slate as made and the late afternoon session is expected to elect the following delegates at large:

The "Slate" Delegates.

Charles M. Howell, Kansas City; Dr. Arthur W. Nelson, Bunceton; Edward J. White, St. Louis; Bennett Clark, St. Louis; Mrs. R. J. Curdy, Kansas City; Mrs. Frederick B. Gardner, St. Louis; Mrs. G. A. Richart, Blackburn, and Mrs. Thelma Campbell, Kirksville.

The convention was forty minutes late in getting started. It was scheduled to commence at noon but extra time was needed to get the huge throng of more than 6,000 persons seated in the auditorium.

While the crowd was jamming through the aisles and doors, the band struck up the National Anthem and a wave of old time political enthusiasm swept through the throng. The Rev. Dr. Joseph Rennie of this city pronounced the invocation and the convention opened.

Mayor Louis Stigall of St. Joseph welcomed the delegates on behalf of the city, following which Gardner launched into his keynote speech praising the record of Senator Reed and heralding him as the logical nominee of Democrats this year.

Applause for Smith Song.

There was scattering applause when, just before the convention opened, the band played "The Sidewalks of New York," the battle hymn of Gov. Al Smith.

Fight Over Clark.

Last night a fight was started on Col. Bennett C. Clark of St. Louis who had been credited with getting James A. Collet into the Democratic senatorial race against Charles M. Hay of St. Louis.

However, the Reed forces, led by Fordyce, campaign manager for Reed, had whipped the situation into shape

Missouri State Democratic Convention convenes at St. Joseph, Mo.

Former Governor J. B. A. Robertson of Oklahoma said the Ku Klux Klan would have an important part in the Democratic campaign in his state but that Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York had a fair chance of gaining control.

Former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois was expected to receive a copy of Senator Borah's prohibition questionnaire. The copy was mailed yesterday and was the same as was sent Senator Curtis, Senator Willis and Secretary of Commerce Hoover.

Senator James A. Reed denied the claims of prosperity made by the Republican administration and pointed to bread lines forming in the East, in a speech at Phoenix, Ariz.

Thomas P. Moffat, chairman of the Lowden-for-President Association for New York, issued a statement saying recent political events, including the Iowa primaries, disclosed that the former Illinois Governor was gaining strength.

Former Mayor John F. Hyland of New York said that Governor Smith stood a good chance of being the Democratic presidential nominee.

Civic Department.

The Civic department of the Twentieth Century Club will meet at the basement of the Elk's Club at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night.

Mrs. George Moore Hostess.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Methodist Church will meet at the home of Mrs. George Moore, South Main Street, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, it has been decided. The meeting was to have been held at the home of Mrs. W. T. Doyle.

Assisting hostesses will be: Mrs. E. J. Kissinger, Mrs. Virgil Hartness, Mrs. W. T. Doyle, and Mrs. W. T. Ramsey.

Class Meets.

The Wesleyan Daughter's Bible Class of the M. E. Church, South, in Ravenwood met at the home of Mrs. E. H. Sims, Thursday. Because of the absence of the president, Mrs. Z. A. Warden, Mrs. James Hubbell had charge of the devotional and business session. An interesting program on early Christian leaders from the time of Christ to the Reformation was prepared by Mrs. W. A. Needles and Mrs. E. H. Sims. After the reading of the Twenty-third Psalm and singing of "He Leadeth Me" in unison Mrs. Sims read the Thirty-seventh Psalm, which was followed by prayer by the Rev. H. Hines.

Mrs. Needles then took charge of the program. The Rev. Hines gave an interesting talk on the Christian leaders from the first century up to the Reformation.

Mrs. James Hubbell talked on Martin Luther and the Reformation. Mrs. Mow gave a life sketch of William Tyndale, Mrs. W. J. Wygal gave readings from the life of John Knox. Mrs. Shrock gave a talk on John Calvin. Mrs. I. A. Goodson read a paper on John Bunyon and Mrs. Warden, Mrs. Lewis, and Mrs. Needles gave readings from the life of Wesley.

After the program lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Nellie Sims and Mrs. Mow.

Members present: Mrs. James Lewis, Mrs. Shrock, Mrs. I. A. Goodson, Mrs. W. I. Wygal, Mrs. E. M. Sims, Mrs. W. A. Needles, Mrs. Walter Davis, Mrs. Phebe Mow. Visitors: Mrs. Ed Warden of Blockton, Ia.; The Rev. Hines and Miss Nellie Sims and the teacher of the class, Mrs. James Hubbell.

Willing Workers.

Miss Opal Riley and Miss Mary Margaret Riley entertained the Gaynor Willing Workers Sunday School class at the home of their parents Friday night.

Various games formed the evenings entertainment and at a late hour refreshments were served to the following persons: Misses Marseilene Johnson, Crystal Morton, Sophia Edwards, Garland Johnson, Marjorie Lawler, Caroline Edwards, Mary Hall, Dora Daniels, Forrest King, Roland Hantze, Raymond Hilton, Clyde Sparks, George Henry Hepburn, Donald Hantze, Donald Morton, Loren Garrard, Orville Morton, Harley Garrard, Galen West, Noble Florea, Glenn Shockley, Densel Cooper, Olin Cooper, Vern Lawler, Gerald Johnson, and Frank Riley, jr., and the teacher, Mrs. George Hepburn.

Mrs. Beattie to Entertain.

Mrs. M. L. Beattie, 225 West First street, will entertain with a luncheon-bridge at one o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. Beattie will give a bridge party at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Party for Dale Griffith.

Mrs. G. W. Griffith entertained with a party this afternoon at her home in honor of her son, Dale, who is twelve years old today.

A white cake decorated with white candles for the centerpiece for the table. The guests played games.

Those present were: Joseph Hutchcraft, Donald and Dale Swearengen, Carol Spoor, Ray Hazelwood, Harold Holt, Lemoine Brown, Melvin Brown, Bobbie Snodgrass and Norville Smith.

Change Meeting Place.

The Literary and Music Department of the Twentieth Century club will meet in the class room of Charles Gardner at the State Teachers College tomorrow afternoon in place of the College auditorium, as previously announced.

Surprise Lambert Family.

Members of the Wilcox Rebekahs gave a surprise party last night for Mr. and Mrs. Clark Lambert and daughter, Anna Margaret, who are moving to a farm five miles south of Maryville. Games were played during the evening followed by refreshments.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Will Fox, Mrs. Fox of Burlington Junction; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pierson, and daughter, Mae, Miss Guelda Kabel, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Pine and daughter, Madeline, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shackelford, Miss Jennie Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. Elihu Shell; and Mr. and Mrs. Will McDonald and Earl Phillips, Maryville.

Maryville Family Moves.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Williams and son, Elwood, will leave tomorrow for Oregon, where they will make their home. A daughter, Miss Merea Williams, will remain here as a student at the State Teachers College. Elwood is a student of the Maryville high school and will enter the Oregon high school as a junior. The Williams family has lived in Maryville ten years.

Fashionable Foundation Garments

FOUNDATIONING

What is it? The first and most important step toward fashionable dress. On all occasions, at all places, it is effectiveness of the foundation garment which creates stylish appearance.

The ability to fashionably wear clothes, possessed by so few women and envied by so many, is very largely the result of the selection of the proper foundation garments. And now, more than ever, modistes in the world style centers, arbiters of fashion, and the smart strata of the beau monde, give it precedence. Your problem is simplified here by having the proper foundation selected and fitted to you. We carry at all times a complete line of Corsettes, Girdles, Corsets and Garter Belts.

Prices to suit the individual.

A FIELD MAN PLACED HERE

R. D. JAY TO REPRESENT STATE FARM BUREAU FEDERATION.

INTO NEW ACTIVITIES

Cooperative Buying, Mutual Insurance Among Plans.—Won't Interfere With County Agents.

R. D. Jay has been stationed in Maryville by the Missouri Farm Federation as field man for five counties—Nodaway, Atchison, Holt, Gentry and Worth. He will be in charge of organization and other activties of the state federation, but will have no connection with the educational work being carried on by the Nodaway County Farm Bureau, except to co-operate with it wherever possible, he said.

Mr. Jay comes here from Chariton county, where he was operating a farm of his own. From 1921 to 1924 he was county agent in Chariton county, and he held a similar position in Carroll county from 1916 to 1921.

The state Farm Bureau Federation, Mr. Jay said, is entering a number of activities, such as mutual insurance and cooperative buying, which do not properly belong to the work of the county agent, who cooperates with the extension service of the Missouri College of Agriculture. The policy of using field agents is being tried so that county agents may devote all their time to the educational work, without engaging in "commercial activities."

Before coming to Missouri, Mr. Jay was in extension work for the Ohio experiment station. He has taken courses both at the University of Missouri and the University of Wisconsin.

Only a few field men are being employed at present, Jay said, but if the experiment proves successful the plan will be used all over the state.

"We consider Northwest Missouri one of the very best locations in the state for work of this kind," the field man said.

Mr. Jay, accompanied by Mrs. Jay and their son, James Wilbur Jay, has taken a house at Thirteenth and Walnut streets and the son has enrolled in Maryville high school as a junior. A daughter, Miriam, is attending Culver-Stockton College at Canton, Mo.

Goforth is director of the orchestra, and Cairl Reimer, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Reimer of this city, is one of the members of the orchestra.

The program will be broadcast from station KGFL, which is 222.1 meters. A telegram was received from Goforth and Reimer this morning.

Hickory Creek School, Near Guilford, Burns

Library Is Saved, but Building Is Destroyed.—Workers Endangered by Falling Roof.

Hickory Creek school, in Andrew county, six miles southeast of Guilford, burned at 8 o'clock last night. The fire is thought to have started from the stove.

The fire was discovered in time to save the school library. The roof fell in while work was going on, but no one was injured.

It was a frame building and had been standing for many years. There was some insurance on it. The school was close to the residence of E. M. Thompson.

Dog Suspected of Having Had Rabies

Head Is Sent to State Board of Health —Other Dogs, Bitten, Under Observation.

SINGER HERE ON MARCH 16

LAURA TOWNSLEY McCOY IN CONCERT AT COLLEGE.

WITH SCHUMANN-HEINK

Reputation Made as Assisting Artist on Jubilee Tour.—Accompanied by Dancer and Pianist.

The next concert of major importance on the calendar at the State Teachers College will be the appearance here on March 16 of Laura Townsley McCoy, coloratura soprano, along with Sylvia Tell, nationally known dancer, and John Thompson, pianist, who has won wide recognition.

It is not often that a new artist appears on the musical horizon and attracts immediate attention of the American public as Laura Townsley McCoy has done. A little more than a year ago Miss McCoy was practically unknown to the musical world. Today she is a popular young artist with a crowded season of outstanding successes to her credit.

Miss McCoy is the same Laura Townsley McCoy who created a sensational success as assisting artist to Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink on her Golden Jubilee Tour, and whose success so elated the great diva that she commented nightly from the concert stage on her outstanding talents and predicted for her a distinguished operatic and concert career unsurpassed by any American singer.

Laura Townsley McCoy is declared by her friends to be more than a singer of superlative qualities. She is a highly accomplished musician, descending from a long line of cultured ancestry which includes artists, writers, lawyers, and educators. Her father was a well known Missouri lawyer and judge of the Supreme Court, a member of the Board of Regents of the University of Missouri at Columbia. Later he became editor and owner of the Great Bend Tribune, a well-known Kansas paper, which is still in the family possession.

Miss McCoy's voice is described as a lyric coloratura soprano of rare quality, blended with a personality that is winsome, magnetic and effervescent. She can scarcely be compared to any other singer, as she is a distinct type and creates an atmosphere in her interpretations wholly individualistic, her critics say. Her keen sense of human emotion enables her actually to live the characters in her songs and to give them a realism seldom seen on the concert stage.

Funeral for Infant Is Held Sunday P. M.

Christian Churches Hold Meeting Here

Nine Congregations Represented at Dinner Last Night at Local Church.

The Nodaway county association of Christian Churches held a 7 o'clock dinner and meeting last night at the First Christian Church here. About seventy-five persons were present. Nine churches were represented.

Persons were present from Hopkins, Pickering, Burlington Junction, Elmo, Clearmont, Ravenwood, Salem, Palestine and Maryville churches.

The principal speakers of the evening were Trosper C. Garrigues, corresponding secretary of state missions, and the Rev. L. E. Lakin, of Kansas City. Both gave talks on missions.

Short talks were made by M. I. Rose of Clearmont, the Rev. Frank R. Gillihan of Burlington Junction, the Rev. D. M. Harmon of Hopkins and the Rev. J. T. Alsup, Ravenwood and Bedison.

The Rev. T. M. Walton of Pickering was the toastmaster of the evening.

Musical features on the program included a piano duet by Mrs. June Blagg and Mrs. John Mutz, a vocal solo by Miss Mary Fields, and a xylophone solo by Carl LeRoy Fisher.

The dinner was served by the Women's Council of the Maryville Church.

BANK REPORT IS OPTIMISTIC

1928 OPENS WITH BETTER BUSINESS THAN 1927.

AN INCREASE ON FARM

Agriculture and Kindred Industries Lead in Improvement.—Livestock Outlook Good.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 28.—An optimistic report of business in the tenth federal reserve district was issued today by the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City.

The general volume of business in the district for the first five weeks of 1928 was 4 per cent greater than for the corresponding period last year, the report showed.

Nearly every business showed an increase, with agriculture, livestock raising and kindred industries leading the field. Rain and snow during the early part of February was said to be responsible for the sharp increase in farm stock.

Favorable to Livestock.

Conditions generally were said to be favorable to livestock interests. On January 1, of this year there were 1,653,000 more head of livestock in the United States than at the start of 1927. The value of livestock on American farms increased $84,764,000 during the year.

Food production followed agriculture and livestock raising with a substantial gain over last year's record. Meat packing showed an increase in slaughtering operations. This was due to larger market supplies of livestock than in either the preceding month or the corresponding month last year. Mills were reported operating at a high rate of full-time capacity for this time of the year.

Building Gets Good Start.

A slight drop was noted in the mineral industries of the area. A mild open winter gave building operations a good start and the value of contracts awarded during the month was 16.2 per cent above the value of awards in January, 1927.

Trade reports reflected considerable improvement in distribution by wholesalers, but a slight decline was shown in retail trade. The report showed a small increase in demand for credit at banks and a further increase in investments in stocks, bonds and securities.

J. D. Ford Predicts Abundant Apple Crop

"Buds a Sign of Prosperity," and He Does Not Believe There Will Be Big Freeze Later.

"The prospect for a big 1928 apple crop is looking good now and there is every reason to believe apples will be plentiful," J. D. Ford of Maryville said in commenting on the apple out look in Nodaway county. Mr. Ford owns a large apple orchard fourteen miles northeast of here and every year he has furnished an abundant supply.

"The buds are coming out in fine shape, which is a sign of prosperity," Mr. Ford said, and is is just optimist enough to believe that no big freeze will come along later in the season to ruin the prospects.

Sells Cattle Monday.

Calvin Clark of Nodaway county disposed of a carload of cattle on the St. Joseph market Monday.—Stock Yards Journal.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mercer, Mrs. Will Trullinger, Andy Mercer and son, Russell, of Sidney, Mont., spent today in St. Joseph.

With the Fliers

The Dirigible Los Angeles moored safely at France Field, Canal Zone, after 2,250 mile flight from the United States, takes off today for Cuba.

Naval planes search between Hampton Roads and Annapolis, Md., for missing seaplane carrying Commander T. G. Ellyson, Lieutenant Commander Hugo Schmidt and Lieutenant Roger Ranschejsen.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh conferred with aviation enthusiasts in New York while his "Spirit of St. Louis" celebrated its first birthday by remaining in hangar. Orders for construction of the plane were given on February 28, 1927.

Fuelless Motor Defended.

Lester J. Hendershot, discoverer of the so-called "Fuelless motor" defended his find against critics. He said the real proof was that the motor worked by the system of tapping an earth current which automatically refuelled the motor.

Captain Bert Hinkler was feted at home in Bundaberg, Queensland, Australia, after completing his 12,000 mile flight from London. He established a new flying record between London and Australia by completing the distance in 15 days.

Search continued for body of Harry Brooks, pilot of the flivver plane which dove into the ocean off Sebastian, Fla. The wrecked plane was washed ashore but there was no trace of the pilot.

Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith, Australian flyer, announced he would take off either Thursday or Friday from San Francisco on another attempt to break the world's sustained flight record, now held by Germans.

To Build Airports.

The National Airway Terminals, Inc., announced it would build a string of Airports from Maine to Florida which will cost approximately $5,000,000. Contracts have been awarded for airports at Portland, Me., and Bridgeport, Conn.

Ruth Elder, whose planned flight to Paris ended in the sea off the Azores, will appear before the New York Legislature Thursday during aviation week. Colonel Lindbergh will appear before the legislators Wednesday.

Investigation started into air collision at El Paso, Tex., in which John Green, Wichita, Kan., was killed and T. H. Endicott and Frank W. Wigton, injured. The planes were being transported from Kansas City to Los Angeles.

Lieutenant Alford J. Williams of the Navy negotiated six more "outside loops" at Washington while a small motor-driven camera, attached to one wing, made a permanent record of the feat.

One Search Abandoned.

Search for a plane in which Walter Hendricks and "Dave" Staggert flew out to circle an ocean liner—on which was a girl friend of Staggert—abandoned when no trace of the plane could be found. They have been missing since Saturday.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

CHARACTERS

PHILO VANCE
JOHN F.-X. MARKHAM, District Attorney of New York City.
MARGARET ODELL (THE "CANARY")
CHARLES CLEAVER, a man about town
KENNETH SPOTSWOODE, a manufacturer
LOUIS MANNIX, an importer
DR. AMBROISE LINDQUIST, a fashionable neurologist
TONY SKEEL, a professional burglar
WILLIAM ELMER JESSUP, telephone operator
HARRY SPIVELY, telephone operator
ERNEST HEATH, Sergeant of the Homicide Bureau

THE STORY THUS FAR

A scream had come from Margaret Odell's apartment. The man who had just left rushed back to her room and knocked. "She answered," said Jessup, "and told him everything was all right and to go home." Earlier in the evening, said Spively, another man had called for the "Canary," but had been told she was out. He satisfied himself by knocking at her door and then leaving. The next morning the strangled body of Margaret Odell was found in her apartment. The side door to the alley was bolted on the inside; the murderer must have left the front way. Both phone operators said no one other than the men they mentioned had called. "But a man's voice answered from her apartment when someone phoned about a quarter to twelve," said Jessup.

CHAPTER 11

Markham, clearly annoyed at the interruption, cut in sharply with a demand for the operator to proceed with his description.

"He wore his hair smoothed down," Spively continued, "and you could see it was kind of long; but it was cut in the latest style. And he had a small waxed mustache; and there was a big carnation in the lapel of his coat, and he had on chamois gloves . . . . ."

"My word!" murmured Vance. "A gigolo!"

Markham, with the incubus of the night clubs riding him heavily, frowned and took a deep breath. Vance's observation evidently had launched him on an unpleasant train of thought.

"Was this man short or tall?" he asked next.

"He wasn't so tall—about my height," Spively explained. "And he was sort of thin."

There was an easily recognizable undercurrent of admiration in his tone, and I felt that this youthful telephone operator had seen in Miss Odell's call a certain physical and sartorial ideal.

This palpable admiration, coupled with the somewhat outre clothes affected by the youth, permitted us to read between the lines of his remarks a fairly accurate description of the man who had unsuccessfully rung the dead girl's bell at half past nine the night before.

When Spively had been dismissed, Markham rose and strode about the room, his head enveloped in a cloud of cigar smoke, while Heath sat stolidly watching him, his brows knit.

Vance stood up and stretched himself.

"The absorbin' problem, it would seem in statu quo," he remarked airily. "How, oh how, did the fair Margaret's executioner's get in?"

"You know, Mr. Markham," rumbled Heath sententiously, "I've been thinking that the fellow may have come here earlier in the afternoon—say, before that side door was locked. Odell herself may have let him in and hidden him when the other man came to take her to dinner."

"It looks that way," Markham admitted. "Bring the maid in here again, and we'll see what we can find out."

When the woman had been brought in, Markham questioned her as to her actions during the afternoon, and learned that she had gone out at about four to do some shopping, and had returned about half past five.

"Did Miss Odell have any visitor with her when you got back?"

"No, sir," was the prompt answer. "She was alone."

"Did she mention that anyone had called?"

"No, sir."

"Now," continued Markham, "could anyone have been hidden in this apartment when you went home at seven?"

The maid was frankly astonished, and even a little horrified.

"Where could anyone hide?" she asked, looking around the apartment.

"There are several possible places," Markham suggested: "in the bathroom, in one of the clothes-closets, under the bed, behind the window draperies . . ."

The woman shook her head decisively. "No one could have hidden," she declared. "I was in the bathroom half a dozen times, and I got Miss Odell's gown out of the clothes-closet in the bedroom. As soon as it began to get dark I drew all the window shades myself. And as for the bed, it's built almost down to the floor; no one could squeeze under it." (I glanced closely at the bed and realized that this statement was quite true).

"What about the clothes closet in this room?" Markham put the question hopefully, but again the maid shook her head.

"Nobody was in there. That's where I keep my own hat and coat, and I took them out myself when I was getting ready to go. I even put away one of Miss Odell's old dresses in that closet before I left."

"And you are absolutely certain," reiterated Markham, "that no one could have hidden anywhere in these rooms at the time you went home?"

"Absolutely, sir."

"Do you happen to remember if the key of this clothes closet was on the inside or the outside of the lock when you opened the door to get your hat?"

The woman paused and looked thoughtfully at the closet door.

"It was on the outside, where it always was," she announced, after several moments' reflection. "I remember because it caught in the chiffon of the old dress I put away."

Markham frowned and then resumed his questioning.

"You say you don't know the name of Miss Odell's dinner companion last night. Can you tell us the names of any men she was in the habit of going out with?"

"Miss Odell never mentioned any names to me," the woman said. "She was very careful about it, too—secretive, you might say. You see, I'm only here in the daytime, and the gentlemen she knew generally came in the evening."

"And you never heard her speak of anyone of whom she was frightened—anyone she had reason to fear?"

"No, sir—although there was one man she was trying to get rid of. He was a bad character—I wouldn't have trusted him anywhere—and I told Miss Odell she'd better look out for him. But she'd known him a long time, I guess, and had been pretty soft on him once."

"How do you happen to know this?"

"One day, about a week ago," the maid explained, "I came in after lunch, and he was with her in the other room. They didn't hear me, because the portieres were drawn. He was demanding money, and when she tried to put him off he began threatening her. And she said something that showed she'd given him money before. I made a noise and they stopped arguing; and pretty soon he went out."

"What did this man look like?" Markham's interest was reviving.

"He was kind of thin—not very tall—and I'd say he was around thirty. He had a hard face—good looking, some would say—and pale blue eyes that gave you the shivvers. He always wore his hair greased back, and he had a little yellow mustache pointed at the ends."

"Ah!" said Vance. "Our gigolo!"

"Has this man been here since?" asked Markham.

"I don't know, sir—not when I was here."

"That will be all," said Markham; and the woman went out.

"She didn't help us much," complained Heath.

"What!" exclaimed Vance. "I think she did remarkably well. She cleared up several moot points."

"And just what portions of her information do you consider particularly illuminating?" asked Markham, with ill-concealed annoyance.

"We now know, do we not," rejoined Vance serenely, "that no one was lying hidden in here when the lady departed yesterevening."

"Instead of that fact being helpful," retorted Markham, "I'd say it added materially to the complications of the situation."

"It would appear that way, wouldn't it, now? But, then—who knows?—it may prove to be your brightest and most comfortin clue. . . . . .

Furthermore, we learned that someone evidently locked himself in that clothes-press, as witness the shifting of the key, and that, moreover, this occultation did not occur until the abigail had gone, or, let us say, after seven o'clock."

"Sure," said Heath with sour facetiousness; "when the side door was bolted and an operator was sitting in the front hall, who swears nobody came in that way."

"It is a bit mystifyin'," Vance conceded sadly.

"Mystifying? It's impossible!" grumbled Markham.

Heath, who was now staring with meditative pugnacity into the closet, shook his head helplessly.

"What I can't understand," he ruminated, "is why, if the fellow was hiding in the closet, he didn't ransack it when he came out, like he did all the rest of the apartment."

"Sergeant," said Vance, "You've put your finger on the crux of the matter. . . . Y' know, the neat, undisturbed aspect of that closet rather suggests that the crude person who rifled these charming rooms omitted to give it his attention because it was locked on the inside and he couldn't open it."

"Come, come!" protested Markham. "That theory implies that there were two unknown persons in here last night."

Vance sighed. "Harrow and alas! I know it. And we can't introduce even one in to this apartment logically. . . . Distressing', ain't it?"

HARMONY AT CONVENTION

this morning, indicating there will be no fight on Clark on the floor of the convention.

Tom Dodge of Milan had been one of Clark's most vigorous opponents. It was reported the situation had been ironed out when it was agreed to name Dodge one of the presidential electors.

The only other fight centered around the selection of a national committeewoman. Mrs. Charles B. Faris of St. Louis is opposed for the place by Mrs. M. R. Wise, Mexico, Mrs. Harve Gray, Henry county, and Mrs. Ella Jean Flanders, Excelsior Springs.

The slate carried the name of Mrs. Farris and an attempt may be made to elect one of her three opponents instead.

Never Defeated When Nominated.

"He has never been defeated when nominated by his party and in my judgment he never will," Frederick D. Gardner, former governor of Missouri and the convention's key-noter, said in asking the state organization's official stamp of approval for Reed's candidacy.

Picturing Missouri's senior Senator as "a crusader who will lead our great party to an historic victory," Gardner said:

"He will be as president what he has been as a citizen and Senator," an American of Americans—his eyes fixed upon the star of American destiny; his energy devoted to American progress, prosperity and peace."

"The great issue of this campaign," Gardner continued," is the taking of the control of the federal government from the evil and corrupt influences which for eight years have possessed it and returning that control to the people of the United States.

Reviews Scandals.

"During the past eight years, he has conspicuously resisted the attempt of Republican administrations to subordinate the people's rights to the demands of sinister interests that seek to control the government for their own selfish purposes.

"It was his courage, his ability, which exposed the intolerance system of purchasing seats in the United States Senate."

Gardner then reviewed the history of the "Newberry scandal"; the fight against seating Senator Elect Smith of Illinois; and told of Reed's part in "exposing in Pennsylvania corruption which shocked the American public and astounded the world."

"Constantly, persistently," he said, "Reed has asserted that the sole object of government is the happiness of the people; that when government goes beyond that legitimate purpose and attempts to interfere with individual liberty, with the right of conscience, with property, with freedom of speech, with peaceable assemblage when government does these things it is oppressive and must be changed.

Protect "Natural Rights."

"He maintains that government is by men, established for the benefit of men, and must be controlled by men; and that such control must consist merely in the protection of the natural rights of the citizens."

Gardner reviewed the Missouri Senator's successive achievements as prosecutor of Jackson County, Mayor of Kansas City, and as the state's representative for 18 years in the upper House of Congress.

"Almost from the day he took his seat in the United States Senate," Gardner said, "he achieved a prominence which has constantly increased with the passing years. In every great conflict he has been in the forefront.

"The pole-star of his guidance has ever been the Constitution of the United States, the most sacred portion of which is the great bill of rights which emanated from the brain of Thomas Jefferson.

"He has constantly stood for the independence of the individual citizen. He has championed the doctrine that states know better than the representatives of other states a thousand miles away how to manage their internal affairs.

Protect Honest Capital.

"He has demanded the protection of honest capital and honest investment, but has ever maintained that wealth must not be employed to oppress the individual or to destroy commerce.

"He has denounced every attempt at class legislation and has fought without ceasing every grant of special privilege.

"Throughout all the years Reed has been in public life he has defended labor against unjust attacks and proved himself labor's friend in its every legitimate aim.

"Born upon a farm, his every sympathy is with the interest of agriculture and his earnest desire is now and has ever been to do all in his power to promote the legitimate interests of the farmers of the nation."

Gardner then successively reviewed Reed's part in establishment of the federal farm loan, the joint land bank act, and the federal reserve act. In connection with the federal reserve, he said:

Letter From Wilson.

"For his signal service in that connection he received personal expression of appreciation from Woodrow Wilson. And let it not be forgotten that it was James A. Reed who championed President Wilson in his policy of peace with Mexico, which largely contributed to the President's re-election in 1916."

Reed was characterized as "the first American statesman to denounce the doctrine that the government's sole duty in the matter of rivers is to make them navigable.

"From the very first," Gardner said, "Senator Reed insisted that the government owned the rivers and it was the government's duty to prevent devastation by floods and to bring security to the great valley states as well as to promote commerce upon the bosoms of our mighty rivers."

Closing with a re-iteration of his main theme, Gardner said:

"It is now to be determined whether we can check those increasing federal assaults upon local self-government and re-establish the vital principle of our original dual system or whether our states and all of their responsible political sub-divisions are to be engulfed in a consolidated bureaucratic despotism, ruled from Washington."

"One or the other—self-government or bureaucratic despotism—must triumph. They cannot exist for long, side by side, which shall it be?

"It is the return to the old fundamentals taught by Washington, Jefferson, Jackson and Woodrow Wilson."

Sale of Quality Jersey Cattle

We will sell at auction in new pavilion at Maryville, Mo.

Thursday, March 1st

at 1:30 p. m.

24 JERSEY COWS—Mostly 3 and 4-year-olds, half of them fresh and five or six heavy springers; 10 coming 2-year-old springers; 7 dandy coming yearling heifers, and a few nice heifer calves.

These cattle were produced on one farm within fifty miles of Maryville, by a very practical breeder and dairyman, who has spent 17 years developing them, and who used only the best of Registered bulls. He was forced to retire; we bought the entire herd, and they all go in this sale.

They are bred for production, and are real producers, are perfect in color and type, all in the pink of condition and T. B. tested.

County Court Views New Bridge Approach

Meet With Washington and Grant Township Boards Yesterday to Further Improvements.

The county court met with the township boards of Washington and Grant townships yesterday with regard to building of approaches and grades to the new bridge across the Platte river, the largest bridge in the county. It is 200 feet in length with a double drive and has been completed with the exception of approaches.

It is on the east-west county highway established last year and was placed on the section line line instead of diverging as required by the old bridge. Cutting of a new chanel by the Andrew-Nodaway drainage district made this possible.

Arrest 7 Leaders in Ohio Mine Mob Attack

Steubenville, O., Feb. 28.—Seven leaders of a mob which stormed the Dorothy Mine of the Y and O Coal Company near here during the night were arrested today.

The mob—said to have numbered five hundred men and women—marched on the mine after the owners announced they would resume operations with non-union labor.

The marchers were repelled with tear bombs after they wrecked a bunk house, sheltering eleven guards who were assigned to the mine yesterday.

Undeterred by the open display of warfare, the demonstrators returned to the mine this morning.

Sage Tea Dandy to Darken Hair

By DOROTHY LANG

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. It costs only 75 cents. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mrs. Annie Kwinski of 526 1st Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., writes that she became so weak and run-down that she was not able to do her housework. She saw the name Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the paper and said to her husband, "I will try that medicine and see if it will help me." She says she took six bottles and is feeling much better.

Mrs. Mattie Adams, who lives in Downing Street, Brewton, Ala., writes as follows: "A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and since taking it I feel like a different woman."

With her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grand-children, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

Thousands of women past fifty, say they owe their vigor and health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are recommending it to their friends and neighbors.

GIVE ADVICE ON CHICKENS

The results of experiments at various experiment stations were given by Mr. Winton, which showed that maintaining an even heat of 101 degrees Farenheit throughout incubation brought the largest percentage of chicks. Out of a hundred fertile eggs the average hatch at 101 degrees was 70 per cent. When the incubator was started at a temperature of 100 degrees F. and increased one degree each week 64 per cent hatched. When the incubator was started at a higher or lower temperature than 100 degrees and increased one degree each week, the percentage of eggs hatching was below 64 per cent, Mr. Winton said.

Disinfect Incubators.

He admonished the poultry raisers to disinfect the incubator after a hatch had been completed, as there is a possibility of eggs being in the hatch which were infected with white diarrhoea, and unless this disease is killed it will affect the next batch.

Begin to cull when the eggs are hatched, he advised, and never "become chicken hearted and help a chick break the shell." Chicks that are weak when hatched should be eliminated from the flock at the start, he said.

The next important phase of raising chicks he gave as proper place for brooding. They should be placed on a fresh range and not permitted to brood on plots used year after year, as the old ground is infested with germs which the chicks readily absorb.

Mr. Winton advised the Missouri type of brooder house, which gives the proper ventilation and also is high enough to permit "head room" for the caretaker. He said specifications of this type may be procured form the office of J. Ross Fleetwood, county extension agent.

The Missouri type is a portable house, and in this connection the speaker deplored the use of concrete floors. "Move your house off the concrete foundation and leave the concrete as a monument to a floor detrimental for brooding chickens," he said.

He told the audience to keep the chicks in the incubator or boxes for fifty hours after they are hatched before moving them to the brooder house. The temperature here should be regulated, Mr. Winton said, taking the temperature about two inches from the floor, as this is where the chicks are.

98 to 100 for Chicks.

Temperatures of 98 to 100 were advised for the chicks just moved and he advocated placing alfalfa, soy beans or clover leaves on the floor as a litter. If just sand is used the chicks may pick up too much of it. The brooder house should be at least 75 to 100 yards from the chicken lot to get away from diarrueа infected germs, for keeping the house warm the coal stove is the most dependable and safer, but Mr. Winton said oil stoves now are made which give satisfaction.

To prevent a high mortality, round off the corners of the brooder house and then attempt to get the chicks to roost as soon as possible, Mr. Winton advised. He said for Barred Rocks three chicks to every square foot is about the maximum number to quarter in the house. For a brooder house 10 by 12 feet, there would be 120 square feet. Multiply this by three for Barred Rocks. For other breeds not so heavy, four chicks to a square foot was advised.

After the pullets are 4½ to 5 months old, take them to the laying houses, he suggested. Alfalfa or clover make ideal ranges for young chicks. It pays in dollars and cents to hatch early and give the chicks fresh ground, he concluded.

There are three forms of disease to watch in young chicks, Dr. Durant said, in the second discussion of the morning. Bacillary White Diarrhea, Coccidiosis and worms were mentioned by the specialist. White diarrhea occurs when the chicks are one to fourteen days old, Coccidiosis when they are ten days to two months old and worms after this age. Worms may develop from one to three months of age. White diarrhea was the disease emphasized by Dr. Durant. It may be noted when the chickens start to die at three to four days old, the mortality is large when seven to nine days old and decrease down to the twenty-first day.

No Known Cure.

Obscure symptoms may be noted when the chicks have fits or their skin becomes puffed up. There is no known cure for white diarrhea he said and he said the control is the basic problem in raising chickens. He said it was much better for the chicks affected with white diarrhea to die than to develop and lay infected eggs.

The one way to determine when hens have white diarrhea is by a blood test, he said and he predicted that it will not be long before the poultry raisers are compelled to take tests of their chickens for white diarrhea. One test doesn't clean up the flock but it will do wonders toward the control of the disease, he said. Dr. Durant said that the disease is easily killed and stated it was important to clean up the ground before putting chicks on range.

Final Grain Review.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—Wheat and corn both tended fractionally lower today in a market dominated largely by technical pit conditions.

The decline continued through the closing hours with no distinctive features. Final figures: wheat ¼ to ⅜ cent off; corn ½ to ⅝ cent lower; oats ¼ cent off to ⅛ cent higher. Provisions closed lower.

Wheat was quiet and traders were not inclined to take a definite stand, pending some consequential news.

Corn was extremely nervous, working in erratic dips and rallies but averaging slightly lower during the morning.

Provisions worked slightly lower.

This is the season of crop scares in wheat and the reported damage to central area winter fields is about the only bullish factor in the market. The world situation remains bearish with ample stocks in most countries. Traders today were inclined to await a definite development in the winter wheat areas. Rain or snow, forecast for the belt tomorrow, is generally construed as bearish, being favorable to growing wheat. Export business of 300,000 bushels Manitobas was reported. Receipts here were ten cars and the cash market held unchanged.

Confusing technical factors tended to keep corn in a nervous condition most of the day. Many traders who bought heavily a few days ago were selling today which tended to depress sentiment. The cash market also was not as strong in undertone as yesterday although prices were unchanged to 1-8 higher. Receipts 431 cars.

Oats awakened slight interest by holding slight gains in the face of weakness in other pits. The session, however, was dull. Receipts of 31 cars and cash unchanged.

Chicago Produce.

Eggs, receipts, 13,959; firsts, 25½c to 26¼c; ordinaries, 25c; seconds, 24½c.

Cheese: Twins, 24½c; young Americas, 24c.

Poultry: Receipts, 3 cars; fowls, 23c to 25c; springs, 29c; ducks, heavy, 28c; small, 20c; geese, 18c to 20c; turkeys, 25c to 28c; roosters, 20c.

Drone of An Engine Heard.

The crew of one of the searching planes reported late in the forenoon that the lightkeeper at Thomas Point, ten miles south of Annapolis, had heard the drone of an airplane engine over head at 4 a. m., yesterday, two hours after Ellyson's amphibian left Hampton Roads.

This was the best clue so far discovered.

Navy fliers searched all day yesterday for the missing men, believing they had been forced down in an arm of the Chesapeake or in some brushy area of Virginia or Maryland.

Ellyson's wife became anxious. She was told her husband's start had been delayed.

Hope Virtually Abandoned.

Today Mildred's condition was pronounced "still critical."

Hope that the fliers would be found alive virtually was abandoned at navy headquarters here at noon, but the search continued under a plan devised by Rear Admiral Robert E. Coontz, commandant at Hampton Roads.

The Atlantic ocean north of Cape Charles, the Chesapeake Bay and a wide land area between Hampton Roads and Annapolis, was being swept by twenty-three airplanes and the two army blimps.

Coast guard and radio stations were also asked to join in the search.

Train Drags Car 100 Yards; Driver Unhurt

Higginsville, Mo., Feb. 28.—A passenger train on the Chicago & Alton road struck a light car on a grade crossing near here today. The train had slowed down for the crossing and did not wreck the car but picked it up and carried it more than 100 yards.

When the train stopped, Louis Weigers opened the door of his car and stepped out, unhurt.

Court Battle to Air Jackie Coogan's Life

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 28.—A sensational court battle that will air the life story of Jackie Coogan was in prospect here today following the filing of a heart balm suit against Mrs. Jack Coogan, mother of the famous boy movie star.

Crowd Court to Hear Case of Ruth Elder

Clayton, Ga., Feb. 28.—Clayton, typical North Georgia hill town, congregated about the Rabun county courthouse today where the case of Mrs. Claude Moody, nee Ruth Elder, trans-atlantic flier, was due to come up.

Peddled around from door to door for three years, the gossipy story about a country school teacher's 17-year-old wife and a traveling evangelist appeared ready for hearing. Mismissal appeared almost certain.

NEW METHOD SAID TO CURE GALL STONES

Extract, Injected Into Blood, Causes Draining of Bladder Without Surgery.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—A new method of treating gall stones by draining the gall bladder without surgery, discovered by research workers at Northwestern University, was termed today by leading physicians the greatest contribution to medical science since the discovery of insulin.

The secret lies in nature's method of emptying the gall bladder, which is accomplished by a secretion, produced by the lining of the intestines. If it is stopped or retarded, the gall bladder fails to empty itself.

The treatment consists in injecting the purified extract of the secretion, which is called cholecystokinin, into the blood of the patient.

Purebred Herefords Highest Since War

Average Price Paid for Bulls in Auction at Kansas City Is $300.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 28.—Purebred Hereford bulls sold over the auction block at the annual roundup of the American Hereford Breeders' Association for the highest prices since the World War, it was said here today.

The roundup got underway yesterday and breeders bid high on all stock sold. The average price was $300 for each animal.

Superior 53rd, a three-year-old bull, brought high money of the day. H. A. Hamilton of Avon, S. D., paid $1,650 for the bull, which took first prize in its class at the Sesquicentennial exposition.

Carlos Mischief, belonging to Wadsworth Bros., of Monroe City, was sold to Jay R. Harwood of Ionia, Mo. for $1,020.

"I Appreciate Lucky Strike"
says George M. Cohan,
America's Stage Favorite

"Good old Luckies! We've been pals for years. And like an old friend they treat me well. No irritation to my throat and no coughing. And I appreciate Lucky Strike—the full body tobacco with the toasted flavor that's been the same since that day we met."

Prominent Tobacco Auctioneer says:
"The Cream of the Tobacco Crop"
goes into Lucky Strikes

"As a Tobacco Auctioneer, I have noticed that when a particularly choice pile of tobacco is offered for sale that buyers of The American Tobacco Company are always interested, for evidently their instructions are to buy nothing but 'The Cream of the Crop'."

New Furniture
vs.
Old Furniture

Changing your furnishings, so that your rooms will "look like a new home" is not near as expensive as it used to be.

In the first place, the furniture itself is being sold (at least in Price's) for a great deal less money than it used to cost.

In the second place, in most every home there are one or more pieces that the family is "tired of," that can be turned in as part payment on the new furniture you wish to buy.

This "trade-in" allowance we make on your old furniture applies as cash on a cash transaction, or as a payment, or payments, on a credit transaction.

The time is right at hand when everybody's thoughts turn to brightening up the home. Spring house cleaning time is drawing near and everyone wants to brighten up the home for spring. Worth-while furniture stores are going to be very busy. We suggest that you make your selections now while stocks are 100 per cent complete.

P. S. No charge of any kind for holding purchases for future delivery.
